

Professional Photography Policy at Bi-Water Farm

Thank you for your interest in taking photos at Bi-Water farm. We are thrilled that you value our location and what it has to offer for your client's photos. We do ask that you follow a few simple guidelines as you use our farm for your sessions.

Guidelines for Professional Photographers

- Although photographers are more than welcome to bring their own clients to the farm, they are not permitted to market their services to other visitors on the farm.
- Photography is only permitted during operating hours.
- Admission must be purchased for each person (including the photographer) and wristbands must be worn at all times.
 - *Admission is not required to enter our Country Market. If you are only taking pictures in these areas, we encourage you to come on weekdays when we typically have fewer guests visiting these areas.
- We ask that you stay in areas that are for guests and do not venture to other areas of the farm.
- Please be respectful of other guests around you when taking pictures to not interfere with their experience at the farm.
- All photos must be family friendly.
- No large props or equipment allowed. This includes (but is not limited to) ladders, step stools, lighting, umbrellas, reflectors, etc.
- Drones are NOT allowed.
- Bi-Water Farm assumes no responsibility for loss, theft, or damage to any equipment or belongings.
- We encourage you to credit or tag Bi-Water Farm in any photos published on social media, etc.
